

EURINR

EURINR after making recent low of 78.79 is slowly but surely heading up. Interestingly these lower levels have also previous acted as strong support and we have observe pair respecting these levels on previous five occasions. Intraday trader can enter in long position keeping stop loss to 78.75 levels. On upside 79.45 and 79.75 could act as short term resistance.

GBPINR

GBPINR from last week is falling and making strong bearish candles. Pair has slump more than 3% in these sessions. Pound which was majorly holding in rising channel has been broken on lower side, which indicates further weakness. But we are expecting pair to rise and retest lower band before resuming its down trend. So upside could be capped at 93.20 and 93.50 levels.

Crude Oil

Crude made low of 4059 in Wednesday's session and from last two sessions we are observing price is trying to consolidate. In yesterday's session also price gave strong pull back from low of 4081 and tested high of 4157. In this price action, crude has formed positive candle after prominent fall. We expected some unwinding of short position well emerge around these levels and price to test high of 4215 levels.

CPO

Crude palm oil from last five months is in upwards trajectory and price has moved up significantly by 66% in this period. CPO which made low of 492 in month of July and tested all time high of 844 recently. But in last four sessions we are observing price has changed its course and now it is heading downwards. In this fall it has breached rising trend line which was acting as a support. We expect after a substantial rise we are heading for some corrective move.
